

THE GLEICHEN CALL

Year VII, No. 29

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1914

Per Year

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The progress of cities is measured by the public spirits of their inhabitants. Men whose only interest is in the success of their individual business may make money for themselves, but they cannot build successful cities any more than a pile of stones can furnish sustenance for growing plants.

The editor of this paper has a warm place in his heart for the friends who bring or send in news all the time and those who lend us their assistance to that end have our unbounded gratitude.

The "Farmers Home" is still the popular resort when hungry.

Any public school in Alberta which has not yet received a Nelson Shield, should communicate with the Commissioner, Rev. Alfred Hall, at 510 Ontario Street, Toronto, as only a few shields are left, and the movement is being brought to a close.

Already many of the dealers in Christmas goods are fearing that Canadians will refuse to buy any made in Germany. Surely we Canadians are not so small minded, especially when it is remembered that the dealers had their orders in months before any talk of war was indulged in. However, a year hence Santa Claus will have to make sure his goods are manufactured in Canada.

J. J. Marshall, Dominion Government inspector of live stock cars and yards for Alberta and British Columbia, returned a week ago to Gleichen from an inspection tour of B. C., through to Vancouver, on the main line of the C. P. R. Mr. Marshall reports that in travelling throughout the two provinces he knows of no town with the population of Gleichen where business generally is as good as here, and says that he is ever pleased to be a Gleichen booster as he has been for the past quarter of a century and more.

An effort is being made in Calgary to get Santa Claus to move his headquarters from Germany to that city.

The degree team of the local Lodge Knights of Pythias will go to Bassano to-morrow evening to confer the ranks of knighthood upon some 35 candidates who will compose the charter members of a new lodge which is to be instituted on that date through the efforts of J. C. Wainwright.

The Cluny basket social has been postponed until Friday, October 16th, owing to the bad condition of the roads.

A meeting will be held in the Opera House, next Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 13th, at 3 o'clock to organize a branch of the Red Cross Society in Gleichen. All interested in this work are earnestly requested to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill of Buffalo Hills returned from their trip to California on Tuesday of last week having thoroughly enjoyed their vacations.

HEAVY SNOW FALL MAKES FARMERS HAPPY

For weeks past the farmers and ranchers throughout the district had been looking anxiously forward to the "big-fall-snow-storm"—they got it.

It is hardly necessary to explain that each year all look for a good fall of snow early in September, as it is considered most necessary for fall plowing and regarded as the very best indication of a good crop for the coming year.

The weather gods proved disappointing until early Saturday morning last when the long-hoped for 'beautiful' began to fall lazily, and by afternoon was coming down nicely. Towards evening the wind began to blow and when night fell a real blizzard set in and lasted until Monday morning, although the weather was not cold.

The snow fall is variously estimated throughout the district, but from reports obtained it may be placed between 15 and 18 inches, and as it was of a very wet nature it is most difficult to compute just how much water this represents. But it is known that it has broadened the smile of every farmer and rancher who has reached town since.

While the wind piled up the snow high in many places and the cattle and horses on the ranges stampeded in many directions practically no loss is reported and as there has been no wind since Monday "Old Sol" has been left alone in his glory to wreck vengeance on "the beautiful" and he is putting it gradually down in the ground where it will do the most good.

The Irrigation Congress

Extracts From President R.W. Young's Address—What Irrigation Means

The great Irrigation Congress opened in Calgary on Monday last and is still in progress. It would be quite impossible in the limited columns of the CALL to attempt anything like a respectable report of the Congress. Therefore, in this issue we will only attempt to give in part the speech of President R. W. Young, which is most interesting.

It is a great compliment to you of Alberta that there was criticism of the action of the board of governors selecting Calgary as our place of meeting. It was objected that your soils were so productive, your laws so broad and just, and the opportunities offered by you so generous that it would never do for us to assist in making your attractions more widely known among our own citizens. Our crime seemed to come under the head of treason as defined in the constitution of the United States, namely, lending aid and comfort to the agricultural enemy.

"I have a sense of almost insufferable pride in being called to preside over a congress dealing with and seeking to solve those problems of profound difficulty and vital importance that are inherent in the great subject of irrigation.

"This subject demands the consideration and solution of intricate and profound profound problems of engineering, law, agriculture and sociology. Your local problem has been to reclaim these grass covered prairies to more useful and diversified crops, while our problem in arid America has been to bring about a greater transformation from greasewood to apples and alfalfa—and the aim of the irrigationist here and everywhere has been to create happy homes out of conditions always uncertain, and frequently of the most heart-breaking adversity.

"In his pamphlet on "Irrigation Farming," Mr. L. A. Wilcox, in summarising the advantages that irrigation has brought to humanity throughout the ages states:

"We may conclude that irrigation means better economic conditions; means small farms, orchards and vineyards; more homes and greater comfort for men of moderate means. It means more intelligence and knowledge applied to farming, more profits from crops, more freight and more commerce—because special products of higher grade and better market value will be enhanced. It means association in urban life instead of isolated farms. It means the occupation of small holdings. It means more telephones, telegraphs, good roads, and swift motors, schools in closer proximity, villages on every hand, and such general prosperity as can hardly be dreamed of by those who are not familiar with the results of even the present infancy of irrigation in America.

"It has been pointed out that the development of irrigation has brought about certain concomitant benefits, scarcely less valuable than its direct blessings—it prevents floods through storage; it aids navigation by maintaining sufficient water throughout the dry season; it reclaims the swamps by preventing river overflow; it conserves the soil by depositing silt; it aids in developing power through storage and equalizes steam flow; and it exerts, probably a moderating influence on the climate.

"In nearly all parts of the earth are found numerous and extensive ruins of reservoirs and canals. Some are situated in regions which are now populous and were abandoned for causes now only to be surmised; others are Turkestan, Upper Egypt, Mesopotamia and elsewhere, regions which have nearly ceased to be populated.

"Turning from these phases of the subject to our own day, it may be repeated that nearly every country between the Arctic and the Antarctic circles now practices irrigation and even England has thousands of acres of irrigated meadows. Conspicuous among works of this character are the vast enterprise of Lombardy and Sardinia, constructed and operated under laws and regulations of an almost ideal character. Then there are the great distributing systems of India and, better known, the epoch-making dam of Assuan, the modern representative of which appears to have been a series of similar dams remains of which may be still seen.

"The history of irrigation and the treatment of its allied problems throughout all of western America may be discovered in the main in the development of Utah, which you will pardon me for especially mentioning because of my greater familiarity with its history.

"First came the lonely pioneer with his dam of brush and cobble stones thrown across a small mountain stream and his primitive distributing devices; then the 'big field ditch' heading in a more elaborate dam of planks and boulders on a larger stream, with a rude gate and a main ditch or canal from which the several landowners interested diverted their shares of water through smaller laterals. In Utah this class of ditch was first constructed by co-operative effort—little or no cash was called for or expended and the proportional interest of each irrigator in the stream diverted depended upon the number of day's work done by him and his boys and his teams. There was no capital stock, and the certificates issued represented merely proportionate parts of the water available.

He then went on to tell of the great strides made in the following years; of how the States had passed what is known as the reclamation act and the great influence it had made in the irrigation problems in that country; of the wonderful development of huge engineering projects from the brush and cobble stone dams of the pioneers to the building of the great Roosevelt dam in Arizona which overtops in height the capitol at Washington. He told of how the capital required for development had increased from the unaided brawn of the isolated pioneer to the almost unrestricted resources of a great nation.

Douglas Hardwick returned last Thursday with his bride (nee Miss Millie) from Scotland and the happy couple have been busy ever since receiving the congratulations of their many Gleichen friends.

Mrs. J. W. Jowett, who was delegated to attend the meeting of the Red Cross Society held in Calgary on Wednesday of last week, returned to Gleichen on Monday, having spent a few days visiting friends in Calgary. Mrs. Jowett in a telephone conversation with the CALL said the meeting was most interesting and that she was sure much good would result from it.

WEDDING BELLS

On Wednesday afternoon of last week at 2 30 o'clock there was a very pretty wedding solemnized by the Rev. E. Cox Clark at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Ostrander on the Blackfoot Reserve, Gleichen, when their only daughter, Miss Olga Helena Idelle was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Corp. Thomas Hill Irvine, of the Royal North West Mounted Police. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion, and those present consisted only of near relatives and a few very close friends.

The bride wore a charming dress of white lace and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and was given away by her father.

The groom was ably assisted by his friend Mr. A. K. Tennant as best man.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and handsome presents from their numerous friends and relatives.

The grooms gift to the bride was a beautiful cameo brooch, who also presented the groomsman with a cameo tie pin.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served to the near relatives of the bride by her mother, who was adorned in a garnet satin gown and chiffon overdress and wore a pretty cameo brooch, the gift of the groom.

The happy young couple left on the west bound train that afternoon for a short trip through the mountains, returning to Gleichen Monday morning and are now receiving the congratulations of their friends at their residence on Seventh Avenue.

Ouelletteville Locals

The blizzard which commenced in the early morning of Saturday is still blowing and has brought all outdoor work to a standstill. Fortunately nearly all the farmers have got through with their threshing, and some are waiting to do their fall plowing.

The C. P. R. Development Camp have not quite finished putting the ready-made farms into summer-fallow, but are expected to pull out for Bassano next week.

The Corbiel Brothers as well as others from this district are away north cutting and baling hay for the government, but they say they are not going to miss the big patriotic meeting here on the 16th.

Dr. Grunnet, Veterinary Surgeon to the Animal Husbandry Dept. C. P. R. visited the district on Thursday to attend to two horses at the camp. During the examination it was noticed that those standing around consisted of a German, an Austrian, an Englishman and an Irishman. The presence of the foreman who was an American prevented a fight.

All are looking forward to the patriotic meeting at Wheatfield school house on the 16th.

MODERN JERUSALEM

Very Different From the Ancient City in its Oriental Sitting

Probably no modern city is more disappointing to the expectant traveler than is Jerusalem. We think of it in its ancient glory. We picture to our imagination the magnificent temple with its golden roof and the other great buildings of the hill of Zion. We read of its being the rendezvous in passover times of a million pilgrims, and we naturally think of it as an enormous city, comparable to London or New York of the present day. We think of it in its oriental setting, of a modern railway train and climb the steep ascent which leads to the city behind an American engine our illusion disappears.

At last the guard calls out "Jerusalem," and we disembark a mile from the city, get into a rickety modern hack, which has evidently done duty in some more civilized community and are bounced over the rough roads and the intolerable cobblestones within the gates, until at last we are landed at our modern hotel, so different from the khan of ancient times.

And here our disillusion has only begun. The city of which we read as accommodating 1,000,000 guests on the feast day could hardly today entertain 1,000 strangers within its walls, and since a multitude of pilgrims come every year from Russia and Italy and France and Germany, these nations have erected great hotels outside the walls for the accommodation of pilgrims.

But these, fine and even magnificent as they are, take us not back to the Jerusalem of 2,000 years ago, but tell us only of the modern city, where half a dozen great nations are building these hotels and hospitals in order to gain political and commercial advantage and patiently awaiting the time when they can oust from their positions the Turk, who has so long held sway within the sacred city.—Christian Herald.

The Solidarity of the Empire

The most astounding fact in this striking manifestation of imperial solidarity is its spontaneity and its unanimity. And this spontaneity, which has demolished a most cherished theory opposed to the principle of imperial unity, has shown the solidarity of the bond which unites the varied parts of the empire. All the citizens of the empire today realize that there exists between them a solidarity of interest which all have a duty to defend in equal measure.—La Patrie.

The regiment has the King as its colonel-in-chief, while the Duke of Connaught is its colonel.

ON WAY TO COR. NATION GULF

Dr. Anderson With Southern Party Looking For Him—No Word From Bear

The naval department has received a report from Inspector Mood of the Royal North-West Mounted Police, dated Dawson, August 16, giving the latest news in regard to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Canada's Arctic explorer. Inspector Phillips reports that a half-breed trader from Fort McPherson states that Stefansson left Herschel Island in March with eight men and about twenty-five dogs, to go straight across the ice to Peel Point or Coronation Gulf. The eight men returned, reporting Stefansson had been on the ice drifting fast. They believed he would make toward Coronation Gulf. Mr. Anderson, in command of the more southern exploration party, has started along the coast toward Coronation looking for Stefansson. The naval department officials here believe that by this time Stefansson has reached the Anderson party safely.

There is no word yet from Captain Bartlett, who sat out on the United States steamer Bear from Nome in search of the men who were marooned by the crushing of the Karik, and who found shelter on Wrangell Island. The Bear is expected to be heard from almost any day.

A Thought For Today

Get knowledge all you can; and the more you get, the more you breathe upon its nearer heights their invigorating air and enjoy the widening prospect, the more you will know, and feel, how small is the elevation you have reached in comparison with immeasurable altitudes. The yet remain unexplored. Be thorough in all you do, and remember that, though ignorance of ten may be innocent, pretension is always despicable. Quit you like men, be strong and the exercise of your strength today will give you more strength tomorrow. Work onwards, and work upwards; and may the blessing of the Most High God be upon your vision, and crown your labors with reward.—W. E. Gladstone.

Noah and the Animals

Few people will say that Noah took more than two of each kind of animal and fowl into the ark, yet there is the Bible on the subject (Genesis vii, 2). Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee seven of the male and his female; and of beasts that are not clean by two—the male and his female." (Genesis vii, 3) "Of fowls also of the air by sevens—the male and the female to keep seed alive upon the face of the earth."

A Wise Child

"Willie," said a father to his young son, "I did not know till today that last week you were whipped by your teacher for bad behavior."

"Didn't you, father?" Willie answered cheerfully. "Why, I knew it all the time."—Woman's Home Companion.

Inconsistent

"Your wife says you have also the courage of a mouse," said the disagreeable relative.

"I wonder that she should make the comparison," replied Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta is afraid of a mouse."—Washington Star.

The salutation given when a vessel lowers or "dips" its flag is one of the oldest and most honorable of all forms of marine greeting. This form of salute has always been demanded in foreign ports, and exaction has warmed the hearts and used up the powder of generations of naval commanders. Salutes are essential matters of naval etiquette and are exchanged on an elaborate code fixed by the maritime powers. The number of guns to be fired in all circumstances is minutely stipulated.

ROBBING THE COAL PILE

Smoke That Goes up the Chimney is Fuel Thrown Away

For the benefit of any one who may not see the analogy between a robbed coal pile and a smoking chimney it may be briefly and simply explained.

The visible part in smoke is nearly all carbon, either as soot or cinder, and carbon is the principal combustible part of coal—i.e., the useful part, the part capable of yielding heat. Carbon completely burned forms an invisible gas, carbon dioxide; therefore whenever the gases from a stack show black they contain carbon, which indicates that complete combustion has not taken place in the boiler furnace.

In other words, all of the available heat in the coal has not been realized. It is the same as though the corresponding part of the coal fed into the furnace has been thrown away, for, although it has passed through the furnace, it has been thrown away up the stack beyond recovery. In this, then, so very different from robbing the coal pile?

The owner who through ignorance allows conditions to exist which are not favorable to the most economical operation of his boiler furnaces, although he is unwittingly robbing himself is nevertheless stealing from his own coal pile.—Power.

"Oh, thank you!" exclaimed an elderly woman to a laborer, who surrendered his seat in a London bus. "Thank you very much."

"That's all right, mum," was the rejoinder.

As the woman sat down the chivalrous laborer said:

"Wot I sez is, a man never cirt to let a woman stand. Some men never gets up unless she's young and pretty; but you see, mum, it don't make no difference to me."

Its Virtue Cannot be Described

No one can explain the subtle power that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil possesses. The originator was himself surprised by the wonderful qualities that his compound possessed. That he was the benefactor of humanity is shown by the myriads that rise in praise of this wonderful Oil. So familiar is it everywhere that it is prized as a household medicine everywhere.

The Bench and the Bar

Sir Edward Carson, the eminent lawyer, and leader of the Ulster covenanters, is usually very serious in demeanor, but he is a master in the art of making witty and telling remarks.

During one case in which he appeared, he had more than one passage of arms with the judge, who finally drew attention to a discrepancy between the evidence by two of Sir Edward's principal witnesses, one of whom was a carpenter and the other a publican.

"That's so, my lord," instantly retorted Sir Edward. "Yet another case of the difference between the bench and the bar!"

"Do you play any instrument, Mr. Jimp?"

"Yes, I'm a cornetist."

"And your sister?"

"She's a pianist."

"Does your mother play?"

"She's a zitherist."

"And your father?"

"He's a pessimist."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Whist

An acquaintance of Talleyrand once remarked to him that he did not think it worth his while to learn the game of whist. Talleyrand's reply has been remembered until this day: "Not know whist, young man?—What a dismal old age you are preparing for yourself!"

"Is this train running on time?"

"I should say so," answered the conductor. "It can't run any other way. The company has had to get so many extensions of credit that the whole road is running on time."—Washington Star.

Mother (sternly)—Young man, I want to know just how serious are your intentions toward my daughter.

Daughter's Voice (sorrowfully agitated)—Mamma! mamma! He's—of the ore!—Puck.

"Well, madam, is your husband out of danger?"

"It isn't quite sure; the doctor is coming again."—Lo Rile.

FOOD FACTS

What an M.D. Learned

A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he much enjoyed.

It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food, and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients are very rapidly, just as I did in strength and weight.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home."

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue; and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

As a physician I consider it a duty to make these facts public. Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

Look in pkgs. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

After reading the above, if a new one appears from time to time, they are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Size of the Waves

The most experienced sons of the sea are apt to have very exaggerated ideas of the size of towering waves which break over the vessels during sea storms, and frequently waves are reported as having reached an almost impossible height. As a matter of fact it is extraordinary for a wave to attain a height of seventy feet, while the average size of great waves is considerably less. The mountainous seas often encountered by liners in the North Atlantic usually measure about forty feet, though the upward-shooting, quick-falling water attains a greater altitude. The big waves of the North Pacific rarely measure more than thirty feet, while the highest wave ever met by an Australian-bound liner in the South Pacific reached fifty feet. The big waves of the ocean are much larger than those encountered elsewhere, and it is very rare that a height of even twenty feet is reached by a wave in the Mediterranean.

A Suggestive Guess

Bishop Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, England, has a pleasant habit of chatting with anybody he may meet during his walks. One day in the country he came across a lad who was looking after some pigs by the roadside, and the bishop paused to ask him what he was doing, that being his usual opening to conversation.

"Moidin' swine," the lad replied, stolidly.

The bishop nodded his head thoughtfully.

"Ah, is that so?" he commented. "And how much do you earn a week?"

"Two shillings," was the reply.

"Only two shillings?" remarked the bishop. "Then you are content, pleasantly, 'I, too, am a shepherd, but I get more than two shillings.'"

The lad looked at him suspiciously for a minute, then he said, slowly: "Mebbe you gets more swine nor me to moid."

Survivor of Siege of Lucknow

The death has just taken place at Edinburgh of Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, who was one of the few remaining lady survivors of the siege of Lucknow. At the time of this stirring event in history, Mrs. Anderson's husband, Dr. Thomas Anderson, who was a son of Mr. Thomas Anderson, for many years secretary of the National bank, was a medical officer in India and was stationed at Lucknow when the mutiny broke out, and she remained in the beleaguered city for nine months, and she used to recall that she was present in the talk-hall, or cellar, to which Europeans went to escape the heat, immediately underneath the roof (to which Sir Henry Lawrence was taken when the distinguished general fell).

A New Cure For Warts

Dr. Felix Szentaghy of Budapest recommends a new and simple method of treating warts. It consists in covering the wart and the surrounding skin, to the width of one centimeter with ordinary caustic plaster and leaving it so covered for weeks—even, if necessary, for two or three months. Whenever the plaster becomes loose it must be removed and replaced by a new piece. As a rule, the plaster is to be changed once in three or four days.

Any adherent resident of the caoutchouc is to be removed with ether or gasoline, care being taken that the wart or the surrounding skin shall not be rubbed energetically, because irritation of the skin is not conducive to the disappearance of the wart. Doctor Szentaghy says that he cannot explain the action of this simple method, and how it produces such excellent results from the cosmetic point of view, but it is certainly efficient. Perhaps the caoutchouc contains some substance which softens the wart and causes atrophy.—Lancet.

England is the holder of the world's supply of tin, and the tremendous advance in the price of that metal, since war made demands upon it, the printers are feeling the increases in the cost of alloys used for linotype, monoline and other lines of type.

Of all the associations of Liege none can be recalled at the present time with a more genuine thrill of satisfaction than the memory of John Cockerill, the Englishman who founded the great iron and armament works which give the city its modern industrial importance. Liege has given his name to one of its principal quays, the neighboring Seraing commemorates him by a statue, and all Belgium would glory to have adopted the enterprising Briton as a watchword, which was "Courage to the last."

British sailors have on their uniform a perpetual reminder of the navy's glorious past, though not every one wears them. They know that the three rows of white tape round the edges of the blue collar and the black silk scarf knotted in front are links with Nelson. The white tapes commemorate Nelson's most famous victories—Copenhagen, the Nile, and Trafalgar—and are a token of perpetual mourning for the great admiral, adopted spontaneously by his seamen themselves, and retained ever since.

No Increase in the Price of—Cowan's Perfection Cocoa

To reassure our customers and the Trade generally in the face of so many advances and rumored advances in the cost of food products, Tea, Coffee, etc., we have decided to announce definitely that there will be no advance in price of COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA in 5-lb., 1-lb., 1/2-lb., 1/4-lb. and 10c. tins, between now and Christmas. Further than this we cannot look ahead.

We believe it to be the duty of all Canadian Manufacturers to do their utmost during the present crisis to show their belief in the underlying soundness of Canada's commercial conditions. This announcement is made in face of the fact that the Cowan Company have had to pay an advanced price for some of their raw materials; but it is believed that increased demand from Atlantic to Pacific, because of falling foreign imports and embargos on teas and coffees, will offset other conditions and enable our largely increased factory to run full time with full or increased staff at full wages.

The Cowan Company, as manufacturers of an article of unusual food value, are sincerely anxious to do their share in allaying anxiety as to employment, wages and food supplies.

Do You Realize the Food Value of COCOA and CHOCOLATE?

Cocoa and Chocolate are foods as staple as flour. Cocoa is not a luxury, but a staple necessity of life, and considered from the standpoint of its value as nourishment in concentrated form pure Cocoa at 50c. a pound is a most economical food.

The food value of Cocoa and Chocolate has been recognized for many years in Great Britain and Europe. The highest medical authorities have made the statement that Cocoa and Chocolate are the most sustaining of all foods in concentrated form. European soldiers almost universally carry Chocolate in their kits as an emergency ration in case of food shortage, or fatigue in forced marches, and viewed from this standpoint the late Queen Victoria's gift to her soldiers in South Africa, takes on a new significance.

We all appreciate Tea and Coffee, but, after all is said, these beverages are really pleasant, slightly stimulating drinks, with little or no food value. Cowan's Perfection Cocoa, on the contrary is a splendid food as well as drink, and a delightful drink as well as food.

Cowan's Perfection Cocoa is sold by all Grocers in 5lb, 1lb, 1/2lb, 1/4lb, and in 10c. tins.

What Germany Has Sacrificed

By act of war Germany cut herself off from trade with Great Britain that in 1911 amounted to $487,000,000; from trade with the Russian empire that in that year rose to $815,000,000, and from the French trade, which was then $266,000,000. German exports and imports rose from $3,659,000,000 in 1908 to $4,115,000,000 in 1912. The British navy aided by the French fleet in the Mediterranean and the small Russian fleet in the Baltic, has blockaded the vast bulk of this trade entering and departing in ships carrying yearly 100,000 cargoes from German ports, the chief of which are Hamburg, Bremen, Stettin, Altona, Lubeck, Danzig, and Warnemunde. Of the great mercantile navy which the fleets of the Triple Entente are holding in check, more than three-quarters belongs to the German nation.—New York Times.

Water Power

Few would expect to find any connection between a modern hydro-electric plant and a prayer. The connection is indeed remote, but not undiscussable. The first application of water power to mechanical purposes was made by Buddhist priests when they employed the energy of running streams to the work of turning prayer wheels. That, then, may be said to constitute the origin of the application of water power to perform man's labors, the foreshadowing of the great industrial development now in progress for the harnessing of the world's currents, rivers and streams.

What Saskatchewan Is Doing

In Southeastern Saskatchewan the provincial government is assisting drought-stricken farmers by spending $750,000 in road and bridge construction and last week 130 crews were at work, averaging 25 men to the crew. It is said there are some men who are not in straightened circumstances that have been getting work by misrepresentation, but it is pleasant to know that they have been caught at it. We suppose there will ever be some men individuals in existence.

Canada's Great Opportunity

It is important that European conditions should not be allowed to too greatly arrest development in Canada, and it is pleasing to note that many newspapers are now devoting much space in an effort to draw attention to the great work Canadians should be doing in all industrial pursuits to assist in a real manner to alleviate the war situation and at the same time develop our own land. It is pointed out that it is now Canada's great opportunity for Nation Building and that while in so doing Canada will be in a much better condition to assist those at the front and relieve the suffering when the war is ended. We can do more by strict attention to business and development than in any other way.

Business Holding Good In Canada.

It is gratifying at this time, while yet the war is young, to note that throughout the whole of Canada, business is resuming its normal attitude. The feeling that there is no excuse for a business panic seems to have taken hold. With agriculture as the basis of the Dominion's prosperity, the fact that the crop is being put on the market now at abnormally high prices, should sweep away any lingering doubts as to the prosperity of Canada from the breasts of those pessimistically inclined. It is no more than right that the people should take heart. The Dominion has seen the worst of the squall. Great Britain is attending nicely to the war troubles; Canada is extending all the aid possible, and all that is required of Canadians generally is to pay cheerful and diligent attention to their daily avocations. Such a course will see the speedy removal of all disturbed conditions and the complete restoration of ordinary tranquility. Whatever slight cause there may have been for uneasiness has been effectually dispelled.

Laws To Be Observed In War

Under the Hague regulations it is forbidden to make use of the enemy's uniform.

It is forbidden to bombard towns, villages, habitations or buildings which are not defended.

It is forbidden to lay unanchored automatic mines except when they are so constructed as to become harmless one hour at most after the person who laid them ceases to control them. When anchored automatic contact mines are employed, every possible precaution must be taken for the security of peaceful shipping.

It is forbidden to make requisitions from communes or inhabitants except for the necessities of the army of occupation. Contributions in kind must be paid for in cash as far as possible, and payments of amounts due must be made as soon as possible.

It is forbidden to take possession of money or property except, such as belong strictly to the state, such as depots of arms, means of transport, stores and supplies, and generally all movable property of the state, which may be used for military operations.

It is forbidden to violate neutral territory.

All of these laws passed by the Hague convention have been most deliberately broken by the Germans. Holding Brussels and Liege to ransom is nothing less than infamous theft.

PREMIER ASQUITH AND WOMEN WORKERS

Prime Minister Listens to Tires of Woe From East End London Workers—Wages and Working Conditions

The East End of London has always been famous as one of the great manufacturing districts. It is the home of numerous industries in which women are employed, among which are jam, pickle, bleach and confectionery, clothing, ladies' wear etc., factories many of which sell their products in Canada.

A few weeks ago Premier Asquith met a delegation of the women workers in the East End, and the "Nation" one of the best known old country publications reported the meeting as follows in a recent issue:

"I am told by one who was present at Mr. Asquith's reception of the East End women's delegation last Saturday that he listened with deep attention to their accounts of personal experiences, and was evidently much moved. One woman produced two brasses from her pocket, and showed the Prime Minister how they had to fill the gaps between—two hundred holes for 35—and it took her nearly two hours to fill one hole, though she worked with the skill of forty-three years' practice. The brass then told for half-an-hour. Others showed him work at elaborate packing, sewing and the labor of keeping house for oneself and husband and six children on 25s. a week. But the most touching story was told by a woman who had been driven from a jam factory because of insults from a foreman and had been succeeded by a girl whose body with that of her baby had later been dragged from the river."

"A stilling a day, in spite of the good which Wages Boards have done, is still an average woman's wage. Starvation wages, crowded homes, unsanitary factories, children born before the hope of health and at their door the tragedy of the unmarried mother—these are some of the realities of life as these women see it."

Those who advocate an increase in the British preference on goods coming into Canada in order that they may be sold cheaper to Canadians would do well to consider whether they are serving the best interests of British citizenship by tending to perpetuate working conditions described above through securing increased sales for English products in Canada. Would it not be better for the workers in these factories, for Canada and Canadians, for the Empire, to require the manufacture of these products in Canadian factories, where working conditions are the best standard, and the wages higher than anywhere else in the world in similar occupation. The description of the conditions in the above article should make the average Canadian housewife hesitate before she buys another pot of jam, or some other table delicacy made under such conditions. Where she buys the Canadian article she knows she is getting a product made by Canadian labor under honest working conditions in a clean sanitary factory.

OUR PULP MILLS

What Canada Loses by Export of Unmanufactured Wood Product

What the "Made-in-Canada" policy means in a practical way is seen in the statistics of the pulp and paper industry as published in the "Journal of Commerce" of Montreal a few days ago:

"During the calendar year 1913 Canadian pulp mills consumed 1,109,684 cords of pulp wood valued at $7,245,262, during the same year there was exported to the United States as almost equal quantity of unmanufactured pulpwid which was valued at $7,675,871. This quantity of unmanufactured wood was sufficient to have supplied 60 mills of the average size operating in Canada in 1913. It would have made 1,085,038 tons of ground-wood pulp, or $17,515 tons of chemical tissue. Ground-wood pulp is worth about $14.00 a ton, which would give $14,490,430 for the value of the pulp that could have been made from this wood by this process. Chemical tissue is worth at least $8.00 a ton, which would have brought the value up to $19,465,870. In reality only $7,750,270 was realized by the sale of this material. The pulp industry lost the profit that could have been made in manufacturing this wood into pulp, and the country as a whole lost the value represented by the cost of manufacture in the form of wages, etc."

"Losing the export of raw pulpwood cut from Crown lands in the different provinces have tended to reduce the proportion of unmanufactured pulpwid exported, although up to 1912 over half of the pulpwid in Canada was exported in this form."

The wisdom of the law prohibiting the export of unmanufactured pulpwid from Crown lands is demonstrated by the fact that the manufacture of pulp in Canada in 1913 showed an increase of over twenty-eight per cent, over that of 1912, increased in place in every province but Nova Scotia.

Similar increase have been reported in the past three or four years since Quebec and other provinces determined on a "Made-in-Canada" policy for the pulp industry as far as Crown lands are concerned. It would be well if some means could be devised whereby the export of unmanufactured pulpwid from privately owned lands could be prohibited. As will be seen above a law of this kind would result in about $20,000,000 being retained in Canada and circulated through the pay rolls of the sixty additional factories that would be required to manufacture the wood now exported in its raw state. A vast number of the unemployed at present in Canada would find remunerative work, and there would be a quickening of business in all channels as a result of the increased circulation of money.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND FACTOR

U.S. First Citizen and Head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works Analyzes Trade Conditions

"The Daily Iron Trade" of Cleveland, the authoritative organ on all matters pertaining to iron and steel, published the following editorial on June 3rd shortly after President Wilson's interview in which he referred to the present trade conditions in United States as having nothing to do with the tariff.

"The legitimate results of the 'free trade' tariff law, now becoming manifest throughout the country seem to be surprising the authors of that measure. Mr. Underwood has not been heard from for several months. Senator Simmons still is studying the statistics. But Mr. Redfield is just as sanguine as ever, for figures, facts and concrete instances roll off Mr. Redfield's tongue like water."

President Wilson is now more positive than ever that "the tariff has nothing to do" with the deepening industrial depression which he now admits but which he strenuously denied in the middle of last January when The Daily Iron Trade first printed its "Million Men Idle" article.

"Crushing away with one sweep of its arm the steel and furnace cast of such tangle of 'free trade' law by the Washington politician, Samuel Vaulen, head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, laid the plain, hard and uncontrovertible facts before the boiler-makers' convention a few days ago. He pointed out that since the selling prices of iron and steel commodities are being carried down to European levels by the actual operation of the Simmons Underwood-Wilson 'free trade' law, therefore the wages of American workers will come down to that European level just as surely as the spin with white-tomorrow. Facts are facts and logic is logic. 'Psychology' may obscure President Wilson, but there is no psychology, neither has logic in the expectation among real students of actual business that the entire American industrial machinery of fabric will be dragged down to the dead level of European practice, wages, profits and therefore, standard of living."

The question now before the American people and there is no use debating about it, is whether the American workmen and his family will be raised when he last finally been dragged down to the European standard of living, which now seems as inevitable as fate under the tangle of 'free trade' law; or whether he will pierce through the false phrase and lovely sentiment of the present sponsors for the country's depression and cast them out. "We are not in United States who are predicting a big reaction against the low tariff policy of the Wilson administration, this will take place or not is difficult to forecast, but it is no doubt understood by the sane and sensible that the tariff reductions synchronized with a world-wide depression

Stock Association Active

E. L. Richardson, secretary of the Alberta Live Stock Association, writes the Call:

"In regard to our efforts to bring Stockmen who wish to sell or place stock on share, in touch with those who have plenty of feed, and wish to buy the stock on share, a great many replies have been received. The supposition that the shortage of feed in certain portions of the province would result in a large number of stock being offered for sale, or to be fed on share, is not proving correct. We have had thirty or forty applications to purchase stock, or to take stock on share to our offer of stock for sale. We hope to receive additional names of those wishing to buy or to stock out on shares, in which case we will again notify you. This circular will be sent to all those who have written in, and there is no use debating about it, is whether the American workmen and his family will be raised when he last finally been dragged down to the European standard of living, which now seems as inevitable as fate under the tangle of 'free trade' law; or whether he will pierce through the false phrase and lovely sentiment of the present sponsors for the country's depression and cast them out. A War Map and Two Paeprs for $2.

The CALL has made it a rule for some years not to club with other newspapers for several reasons, but as an exceptionally good proposition has been offered our readers we have decided to break the rule for 30 days only. During that time subscribers who pay for the CALL and the Family Herald and Weekly Star one year in advance may have the

Oulletteville and Cluny Patriotic Society

The first meeting of the above society will be held in the Wheatfield school house on Friday, 16th October, commencing at 7 p.m. There will be a Box Social and the ladies of the district are urged to come forward with their best endeavours in the way of attractive boxes so that the men will have something good to bid for.

A program of amusement will be arranged for the social. Up to the present we have been promised a treat in conjuring and feats of legerdemain by Mr. E. Beauvillain de Montreuil, and patriotic songs by Mr. J. S. Hirst.

The undersigned will be grateful for any further offers of assistance in the way of songs, selections, step dancing or any little turn that can be rendered. Do not be backward in coming forward to do a turn for the benefit of "Tommy Atkins."

If possible a speaker will be provided to give an address on the war and the business part of the meeting will be the electing of an executive committee, chairman, secretary and treasurer to carry on this and all future meetings, and to decide on the best way to expend the money received for the benefit of our troops at the front.

Several ladies have already come forward with valuable help and we ask those who have not been called upon personally not to think they are not wanted, but owing to the stress of work and the inclemency of the weather it has been impossible to get around to everybody.

The program is to conclude with a dance, at which the Brothers Corbiel, Bouchard, McKenzie and several of our dancing men in the district will do their best to give the girls a good time.

All who are following the war news in the papers, and realize the sufferings of British, French and Belgians at the seat of war must be brought to think that this is a time in this peaceful country when we should sink all our petty differences of opinion, either political or social and join together in one band to help those who are fighting for their country.

Secretary, pro-tem.

Gleichen Grain Market

Last week there was considerable excitement in the Gleichen grain market and the local elevators were bidding against each other strongly. The price of wheat went up as high as $1.03, and the lowest price was reached yesterday morning at 90c. In fact two elevator men admit that they had paid by the load from 4c. to 6c. higher than track prices at the time. However, the latest reports from Winnipeg would indicate that the price of wheat may continue strong and that the bulls are down with their horns on. It is pointed out that there is a $65,000,000 bushel deficit in Europe.
